Clean doors and frames quickly, easily and to a professional standard

Older garage and entrance doors in particular can fade over time due to external adverse weather effects. This makes it all the more important to regularly clean and maintain them. Doing so can not only help to keep their good looks for longer but also protect the construction components from wear and corrosion. Cleaning doors and frames couldn't be easier with the cleaning and maintenance set developed exclusively for Hörmann in collaboration with Sonax. With this set, you can achieve a professional finish – fast.

A clean, well-kept garage and entrance door are vital for creating a positive first impression of a property. That's why many home owners place great importance on keeping their doors in good condition: "Discussions with our sales partners have shown time and time again that private consumers feel it is very important to properly clean and maintain their garage and entrance door. This prompted us to develop a suitable solution. Our top priority was added value for the customer. We therefore sought a strong, experienced partner to help us develop and produce our cleaning and maintenance set – Sonax was the perfect choice", explains Chris Klein, Product Manager for Garage Doors at Hörmann KG Ictershausen.

The Hörmann cleaning and maintenance set contains everything you need: a bottle of cleaner, oil for protection against wear and corrosion, polish, a multipurpose sponge, a polish application sponge and a microfibre cloth for removing polish residue. The set not only makes cleaning much easier but also reduces the risk of damaging the construction components, as using the wrong cleaning equipment can often cause discolouration or leave unsightly scratches.

“Customers can be confident that their doors and frames are in safe hands with a specifically designed cleaner and suitable polish tested by the manufacturer”, explains Knut Höpel, Product Manager for Garage Doors at Hörmann KG Icktershausen. When the set is used regularly, the construction components are effectively cleaned, maintained and protected. The products' surface finish and colour are maintained for a long time.
